

ABOUT

The RSA MacRobert Art Award for Painting (£20,000) provides a research opportunity for a fine art painter. The aim of the award is to provide the chance for someone whose life challenges have, for whatever reason, made it difficult to develop and demonstrate their artistic talent. Whilst the award is financial, the real reward is the opportunity that the funds can directly, or indirectly provide/allow.

The award is funded by the MacRobert Trust and administered by the Royal Scottish Academy, and consists of:

- A monetary award to fund a period of research and development for a new body of work within a 12-month period.
- Exhibition of selected completed work, along with other RSA winners, at the Royal Scottish Academy at a later date (to be confirmed in discussion with the RSA).

ELIGIBILITY

- Entrants must be painters who are at least 10 years out of art school or can demonstrate at least 10 years of substantive practice.
- Entrant's practice must be predominantly based in fine art painting; this can be in any medium or subject.
- Entrants must have been born or are currently living in Scotland (and have been for at least 3 years consecutively).

- The RSA will have regular contact with the winner during the 12-month period.

- The winner will have the opportunity to exhibit selected resulting work in a group exhibition at a future date. Further arrangements will be made in consultation with the winner.
