About the Royal Scottish Academy

The RSA is an independent body of artists and architects whose mission is to support the creation, understanding and enjoyment of contemporary art and architecture across Scotland.

Founded in 1826, the RSA has a long history of supporting artists at all stages of their careers. The Academy is continually evolving and works hard to ensure that it remains at the forefront of the ever changing world of contemporary art and architecture.

The RSA runs a year-round programme of exhibitions which includes New Contemporaries, the Annual Exhibition and the Open Exhibition; allowing emerging and established artists and architects to display their work for an international audience. It also cares for its Recognised Collection of National Significance which is maintained as an important research facility.

The generosity of the Friends is vital to the Academy, supporting exhibitions, residencies and awards.
